

Big Wednesday Poster v1 by Amy Hood for Hoodzpah. I liked this picture mainly because of the use of colors. This shade of red is of course not a normal color to use for a sky, but it attracts people to stare at it. The use of calmer colors for the sand and water balances the design which I liked a lot.

Halloween Icon Pack! 10 vector icons by Sam Mountain for Difiz. First off, I enjoy all things halloween, so these icon designs immediately caught my attention. To describe them would be cute and simple, the same use of colors make all of them seem unified for one sole purpose. Very little detail is used but I feel like if more was added, it would overwhelm the entire design.

Ice Cream Shop by Justin Harrell for drupalize.me. Not much detail is used in this design and I feel like it is what makes it a great design. The use of bright colors sets the tone to a more cheery, vibrant illustration for a blog post.